DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN COMMUNICATION (PH.D.)

Purpose

The purpose of the Doctor of Philosophy in Communication program is to prepare competent researchers, effective leaders, and skilled practitioners with a biblical worldview who will model high standards and assume leadership roles within various organizations#both for-profit and non-profit#in the context of the fields of communication. Researchers and practicing leaders in this field are seen as those who assume a role in shaping the future direction of policies, goals, and objectives within a communication setting, whether it be in academic, corporate, or church-affiliated settings.

Program Learning Outcomes

The student will be able to:

- Create effective communication solutions and applications using qualitative and quantitative tools.
- Analyze theoretical and applied concepts based upon research and knowledge of communication fields.
- Conduct original research that adds to the applied knowledge base of communication fields.
- Integrate communication concepts, solutions and applications with a Christian worldview.
